

Source deforestation-free commodities with increased transparency

Deforestation is an alarming global crisis affecting biodiversity, climate, and human rights, prompting governments worldwide to adopt legislation mandating deforestation-free supply chains. Companies must adapt to address their impact on deforestation as legislation evolves. However, effectively managing these efforts in-house requires substantial resources—from tracing products and collecting supplier data to assessing risk and following the proper compliance procedures.

How we can help: Our Deforestation Program

Source Intelligence delivers a comprehensive deforestation solution covering the primary commodities driving deforestation, including cattle, soy, palm oil, and wood products. Our deforestation program facilitates supplier engagement, data analysis, and document generation through powerful compliance software. Regardless of the level of support needed, you can be confident that your products are deforestation-free.

- ✓ Product tracing
- ✓ Automated risk assessments
- ✓ Document collection and management
- ✓ Universal compatibility with all deforestation laws

Program Benefits

Reduce internal resource burdens

Streamline responsible sourcing due diligence efforts, such as supplier engagement, data collection and validation, and report generation, to refocus internal resources on other parts of your business.

Drive efficiency with centralized data

Enable suppliers and external risk assessors to enter data in a centralized location and easily generate on-demand compliance reports and documents to fulfill customer requests.

Mitigate supply chain risk

Identify high-risk suppliers, initiate corrective action, and monitor their progress to reduce the risk of fines or supply chain disruptions and make informed sourcing decisions.

Increase supply chain visibility

Gain comprehensive insight into your supply chain beyond tier 1 suppliers with best practices proven to reduce supplier fatigue and consistently improve response rates and data accuracy.

Ready to connect?

Schedule a demo of our deforestation program and discover how our software and services can help you achieve your compliance goals. To get started, contact us at:

sourceintelligence.com/schedule-a-demo

